Carroll Wins Smashing Victory Over Gable

180,000 Vote Margin Given To Governor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Julian Carroll has won a full term with a smashing victory over Republican Robert Gable despite the predicted peril of an anti-busing backlash in populous Jefferson County.

Kentucky voters Tuesday also elected Thelma Stovall as their first woman lieutenant governor, and swept a slate of seven other Democrats into secondary state offices.

Carroll's landslide margin of 180,000 was even greater than his impressive triumph in last May's gubernatorial primary.

And he won the 5th District in Southeastern Kentucky, the first time any Democratic gubernatorial nominee has carried that Republican stronghold.

With 3,228 of 3,311 precincts counted unofficially, Carroll had 453,210 votes to 274,559 for Gable.

The governor immediately pledged his priority in the next four years will be on education. Kentucky ranks near the bottom of states in financial support for secondary and elementary education.

Carroll, a 41-year-old silver-haired lawyer from Paducah, has been in state politics since 1961, when he became a legislator. He was elected lieutenant governor and succeeded Wendell Ford last December when Ford was elected U.S. senator.

Gable, a 41-year-old wealthy coal and lumber owner of Frankfort, is a former state parks commissioner who ran unsuccessfully for U.S. Senate in the 1972 primary.

He was counting on bitterness over court-ordered school busing for desegregation in the Louisville area to vault him into an upset victory in tandem with the customary huge GOP margin in his home 5th District.

Although Carroll also opposed busing, the backlash was supposed to be hurting the incumbents.

It didn't work out that way. Carroll held Gable to a standoff in Jefferson County, which the Republicans have been winning for the past 20 years, and the 2 to 1 statewide Democratic margin in registration told the remainder of the story.

"I expected a 125,000-vote margin, but never this much," Carroll told a jubilant Democratic victory rally.

Gable made a short concession statement to a surprisingly festive crowd at GOP election headquarters.

"The impact of money and organization was just too much," he commented later to a reporter. Democrats had been outspending the GOP by at least 4 to 1 in the campaign.

Carroll acknowledged his forces had "worked Jefferson County real hard," and said he is proud of residents for "wading through a jungle of rhetoric (on busing)...they examined what we've done in the past."

The governor said that the tide was running against Democrats at Louisville a few

Elected To Four-Year Term

Democrats Hold Council Seats On Local Level

Calloway County vote totals reflected the statewide trend of Tuesday's election with a complete sweep for Democratic candidates in local vote totals.

Gov. Julian Carroll carried Calloway County comfortably with a 4,348 to 685 margin, with two write-in votes for Todd Hollenbach.

With local county judge Robert O. Miller as her state campaign co-chairman, Thelma Stovall was also an easy winner here, with a 3,739 to 746 win over Shirley Palmer-Ball.

Similar vote margins were carried throughout the statewide races.

In local elections, Republican John Neubauer failed to generate enough votes to defeat any of the Democratic candidates for Murray City Council, gathering only 557 votes, with the lowest Democratic candidates total 1,598.

The election confirms Ward A councilmen as Loyd Arnold, Buel Stalls, Philip Tibbs, Dave Willis, Art Lee and Ed Chrisman. Ward B councilmen are Melvin Henley, William Furches, C. C. Lowry, Howard Koenen, Tom Rushing, and Woodrow Rickman.

Dr. C. C. Lowry led the council ticket with 1,870 votes. Other totals were: Arnold, 1,588; Stalls, 1,655; Tibbs, 1,589;

Willis, 1,629; Lee, 1,608; and Chrisman 1,691; Henley 1,615; Furches 1,672; Koenen 1,615; Rushing 1,731; and Rickman 1,598.

Unopposed candidates locally included State Senator Richard Weisenberger; Kenneth Imes and Lloyd Clapp for representative; Ron Christopher for commonwealth attorney; James Lassiter for circuit judge; Frances Shea for circuit clerk; and Don Jones for city prosecutor.

Five council members were chosen in a close race in Hazel, with Cy Miller leading the ticket on the strength of a vote total of 89. Others elected were Nancy McClure with 86; Glen Barnett with 80; Ira Morgan with 79; and Ralph Richerson with 64. Other vote totals were Edward Hudson, 28; William Pratt, 60; Preston Oliver 61; and Janice Wilkerson 50.

John Shendock was also elected Hazel City Judge with 42 votes; he was unopposed in the election.

Rounding out the election ticket, Melissa Easley was confirmed as a city school board member with 975 votes. Both constitutional amendments passed Calloway County by comfortable margins.

Kentucky Voters Defy Trends In Approving Constitutional Changes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Defying a trend that began in 1896, Kentucky voters have approved two amendments to the state constitution, including one which provides for sweeping changes in the state's judicial system.

The second, which goes into effect next year, will extend homestead exemptions to many senior citizens not eligible for benefits under the Homestead Act of 1971.

The Homestead Amendment will make it possible for persons 65 and older to claim a $7,700 deduction on any part of a building in which they live, including apartments, condominiums and store buildings.

The 1971 Homestead Act provided an exemption of the first $6,500 of assessed value of a home for property tax purposes. A $1,200 cost of living adjustment raised that to $7,700 this year.

It was approved by a more convincing margin than the judicial amendment, but both received heavy support in urban areas, particularly Jefferson County.

With 89.7 per cent of the vote in, the homestead measure had 200,271 favorable votes and 135,400 against it. The judicial proposal had 182,829 "yes" votes to 164,151 "no's."

The judicial amendment will create a four-tier court system, consisting of 120 district judges, 55 circuit courts, a 14-judge court of appeals and a seven judge supreme court.

Currently, Kentucky's highest court is the Court of Appeals.

The amendment also will require that all judges — except county judges who perform no judicial functions — be lawyers, and for all judgeships to be elected, full-time positions.

Proponents said the change was needed to speed up the judicial process. They said it has taken as long as four years for a case to reach and be ruled on by the high court.

Opponents, particularly the Kentucky Association of County Judges, said the so-called Judicial Article would cost too much to implement. They also said eliminating hundreds of county, magisterial and police courts would take the judicial process away from the people.

The amendment will reduce from about 1,000 to some 150 the number of judgeships in the state, but fewer judges will be able to handle cases more expeditiously because they will be working full time, proponents argued.

Because county judges and magistrates will keep their judicial responsibilities until their terms end, the earliest year the amendment could be fully implemented is 1978.

The amendment also will require judges to run under nonpartisan labels, and no judge will be allowed to serve in a political capacity.

Pike County Judge Wayne Rutherford, president of the county judges association, had predicted the judicial article would fail by a 10-1 margin. He said the only time he heard it mentioned was when questioned by news reporters.

Apparently, however, it was not unknown to the voters, probably because of a campaign to get it passed that began two years ago and ended prior to the election with television advertisements.

Both Gov. Julian Carroll, who won a four-year term in Tuesday's election, and Republican loser Robert Gable, had endorsed the article, as had numerous civic and professional organizations.

The first time an amendment to the state constitution was proposed was in 1896. The voters turned it down. Since then, 22 have been adopted, including the two approved Tuesday. Thirty-three have failed.

Strike At Health

Center Construction

Expected To End Soon

A labor strike at the construction site of the addition to the local health center was expected to be over in a matter of hours today, according to health center coordinator R. L. Cooper.

Cooper said that Crouch Construction Co., general contractors, had reported to him that a contract has been agreed on by the contractor and union, but that the union has not received it through the mail yet. Delivery was expected today, and workers are expected to be back on the job at least by tomorrow, Cooper said.

Brewer Named Manager Of Local Phone Office

Tom Brewer, currently manager of the Paducah office of South Central Bell and a former manager of the Murray office, will return to Murray Nov. 17 to take over the managerial duties of the local office according to an announcement made today by South Central Bell.

Brewer will replace Dewey Yates, the current local manager, who will become the internal auditor in the main South Central Bell Office in Louisville.

Brewer is chairman of the board of managers of the West Kentucky Easter Seal Center for Handicapped Children and Adults and is a member of the administrative board of the Trinity United Methodist Church in Paducah.

He has been associated with the Bell System since 1946 and was the manager of the Murray office from 1962 to 1964. He has been manager of the Paducah office since August of 1964.

Brewer and his wife, June, have two sons, Rick and Mike, who are both married and currently living in Marshall County. The Brewers expect to move to Murray around the first of the year.

Mrs. Stovall Says Her Sex Will Not Make Any Difference In Post

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Thelma Stovall, the first woman to be elected Kentucky's lieutenant governor, shrugs off suggestions that she may have to work harder because of her sex.

"It hasn't made any difference in the past, and it won't now," she remarked, pointing out that she has held various state offices for 25 years.

"In fact, my opponent might have been better off if he hadn't tried to straighten out some voters' confusion over his name," quipped Mrs. Stovall.

She was referring to Shirley Palmer-Ball, her Republican foe in Tuesday's general election. Palmer-Ball tried unsuccessfully to have his name appear on the ballot as "S.W." rather than "Shirley" to dispel belief that he is a woman.

Unofficial returns from 2,942 of 3,311 precincts gave Mrs. Stovall 375,887 votes to 226,903 for Palmer-Ball, a Louisville business executive making his first race.

Mrs. Stovall, currently secretary of state, was one of three women who captured state offices as the Democrats scored easy victories in all of the constitutional offices.

Frances Jones Mills, now Court of Appeals clerk, will take over in December as state treasurer. She ran far ahead of Republican Larry Perkins of Lexington.

Replacing Mrs. Mills as appellate clerk will be Martha Layne Collins of Versailles. Mrs. Collins, a former schoolteacher, defeated Republican Joseph Lambert of Mt. Vernon.

The new state superintendent of public instruction will be Dr. James Graham, who heads the Bowling Green school system. His GOP opposition came from James Taylor, a Jefferson County schoolteacher.

State Treasurer Drexell Davis will move into the secretary of state's office. He defeated Huda Jones, a Beattyville Republican.

Hopkinsville Mayor George Atkins will be resigning that post to become state auditor. His Republican opposition came from Richard Combs, a Covington businessman.

Fayette County Judge Robert Stephens was picked as attorney general over Joe Whittle, a Leitchfield Republican.

Former state Sen. Tom Harris of Carrollton won election as agriculture commissioner, defeating Republican J. Robert Miller of Tompkinsville, who had served in that post with the last Republican Administration.

Cottages To Be Moved At Kenlake Park

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Kentucky Department of Parks has announced plans for relocating eight cottages at Kenlake State Resort Park, Hardin.

A $38,000 contract has been awarded to Elmer Buchta, Inc., Otwell, Indiana, for their successful bid on the project.

The work, to be completed by January 31, 1976, consists of foundation construction at the proposed sites, removal and transportation of the cottages from the existing foundations, placement on the new foundations, and any tree removal and grading necessary to complete the project.

The wood-frame cottages will be moved approximately 2.6 miles within the park.

A Department of Parks spokesman said the relocation of the cottages will increase their usage and save utilities and maintenance costs.

Our Face Is Red

At least one Halloween gremlin has overstayed his welcome in the composing room of The Murray Ledger & Times and our faces are red with embarrassment.

In the story in Tuesday's edition concerning the Murray Chamber of Commerce annual banquet and the nominations for "1975 Person of the Year," a complete paragraph was inadvertently omitted, resulting in only three of the four nominees being listed.

We offer our apologies to Margaret Trevathan, the fourth nominee. Mrs. Trevathan is the wife of Ben Trevathan and is librarian at the Murray-Calloway County Library; she was named "Outstanding Librarian" of 1975 for Kentucky and a civic worker in many areas.

The other three nominees are: Betty Lowry, Dr. C. C. Lowry, and Gingles Wallis.

All four of these fine Murrayans are deserving of the honor for which they have been nominated. We wish the best to each of them.

Murray High Principal, Eli Alexander receives a ticket from Student Council Representatives (right to left) Sarah Ross, Lisa Jones, John Poole, and Sally Matarazzo, for the Basketball "Tip-off" Chili Supper. The supper will be held November 18, at 6:30 p.m. in the Murray High Cafeteria. Price of the tickets are $2 and children under five years of age are free. The guest speaker will be Murray State University basketball coach, Fred Overton. Tickets may be purchased from any Student Council Representative during the next two weeks.

Down Concord Way Writer Says Halloween Was Hardly Noticeable In New Concord Area

By Estelle Spiceland
November 3, 1975

Halloween was scarcely noticeable here in Concord excepting for a little white toilet tissue festooning some of the trees.

No wonder that a gentleman, out of the community electioneering the morning after Halloween, said that he believed we had some of the finest people here he had ever met. We agreed, whole heartedly.

And we have some good farmers, too. Lloyd Thompson, just outside Concord next to Oury Lovins farm where a huge picture of a white faced bull is displayed, has not one, but three patches of the finest turnips and turnip greens one could imagine.

Lloyd's mother celebrated her 92nd birthday in their lovely home later in November.

Mrs. Opal Coleman Moody has the foundation laid for a new house in front of the Thompsons.

Jerry Lovins invited me on a pleasant little excursion Saturday afternoon. We drove almost to Paris Landing stopping at Fran's Ceramic Gift Shop where a very contented retired teacher has found satisfaction in making, baking, and painting ceramics. She has taught classes at Buchanan, and has been recognized in Better Homes and Gardens. She has one room used just for doll making.

Miss Maud Nance and Mrs. Vinelle Patterson are back at their homes after being hospitalized, but both had faithful sisters to attend them, even while recuperating.

So many deaths have brought sorrow to so many households, we could not mention all. From our community Otis Bucy died suddenly while attending a sale.

But when we consider all the trials and tribulations some endure while living, it is comforting to read Revelations 14:14: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." Then we try to imagine a hereafter as in 1 Corinthians 2:9: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him."

Mrs. Grogan And Mrs. Nance Are Speakers On Program For DAR

The October meeting of the Captain Wendell Oury Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held in the home of Mrs. John A. Nance, Farmer Avenue, with the regent, Mrs. John J. Livesay, presiding.

Dr. Mildred Hatcher led in prayer following the pledge to the flag and the DAR Ritual.

Mrs. Leon Grogan, chairman of the National Defense program, gave a review on the "Danger Points In Our Panama Canal Negotiations" saying it was bought with U.S. dollars and acquired by constitutional means as were the Louisiana Territory from France and Alaska from Russia and should be retained.

Mrs. Grogan also cited the "History Teaching Crisis," a special report by the Organization of American Historians who say that a detailed survey of fifty states and the District of Columbia finds "a movement away from history, as history is defined and taught." Students and school authorities are substituting ethnocentric and social studies for American history, the report says.

The treasurer, Mrs. John A. Nance, explained the DAR Insignia and the correct way it should be worn and used. She also reviewed an article from the National Geographic Magazine, "Patriots in Petticoats," enumerating the many women, including Mrs. George Washington, who followed the armies throughout the Revolutionary War, the discomforts they endured, and the aid they gave to the soldiers.

Mrs. Nance served a delicious dessert to Mrs. Livesay, Mrs. Price Doyle, Mrs. Leon Grogan, Mrs. Clifton Key, Mrs. Carl Lockhart, Miss Patty Allbritten, Dr. Mildred Hatcher, and Dr. Halene Visser.

Mrs. Simmons Presents Program At PEO Meet

Continuing the 1975-76 program theme, "So Let Your Light Shine," Mrs. A. W. Simmons, Jr. presented the program for members of Chapter M of P. E. O. Monday evening, November 3, at the home of Mrs. L. J. Horton, Mrs. A. C. LaFollette was assistant hostess for the nineteen members and one guest.

Mrs. Simmons, a University of Kentucky graduate and native of Georgetown, gave a slide talk and displayed one of her hobbies, needle point. She brought several lovely pillows in various designs to demonstrate one of the "lights" in her life.

The P. E. O. member then turned the light on a number of local scenes, demonstrating another talent. The slides included colorful flowers in Murray gardens, homes, places of business, leisure and retirement scenes. She concluded with pictures of several not-so-beautiful scenes in Murray's alleyways.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Maurice Christopher. Chaplain, Mrs. Paul Sturm, gave the devotion. Mrs. Richard Kruger, (nee Anne Sturm), was granted a demit to Chapter AK, Los Alamos, New Mexico.

The business meeting was climaxed by the largest "Stitchin' and Stirrin'" silent auction yet held. Conducted by Mrs. H. L. Oakley, a most generous amount of money was realized from sales, and from other cash and check donations.

The hostesses served a dessert.

Those present, not previously mentioned, were Mesdames Edith Heise, Henry McKenzie, Alfred Lindsey, Jr., Donald Burchfield, "A. H. Tittsworth, James W. Parker, Harry M. Sparks, John C. Quermous, W. J. Pitman, Larry Doyle, Larrie Clark, Morgan Sisk, Gene Hendon, and the P. E. O. guest, Mrs. Lewis Bessing.

The November 15 luncheon will be with Mrs. Sturm with Miss Bernice Lutz, assisting hostess.

The Lee-olia Lassiter and Ruth Wilson Circles of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Women met at the church on Tuesday, October 21, at seven p.m. Members read the purpose of the UMW.

Mrs. Emma Knight accompanied the group as they sang a hymn and Mrs. Alice Knight read the scripture.

The annual conference is scheduled at Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn., on October 25, and Mrs. Maggie Woods will be the Good Shepherd district officer and Jean Morris as church delegate. The women voted to send a love offering.

Sunday, December 14, was the date chosen to decorate the church Christmas tree when the Christmases will be placed and explained.

Mrs. Alice Knight led the program on "Missions—Where Our Money Goes." She explained and conducted the pledge service.

Articles on where and how missionaries and deaconesses are placed when they are called, their work, worries, and triumphs in the service of God were given by Diane Moore, Alice Knight, Janice Wilson, and Bertha Young.

Refreshments were served by Emma Knight and Alice Knight. Also present were Loretta Wilson, Betty Jo Poole, Dorothy Dunn, Katherine Wilson, Lee Lassiter, Esther Sigmon, Ann Symphon, Jeri Marsh, and Lois Marsh.

Virgin Takes Pill as Preventive Medicine

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-H. W. Hays Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old bachelor. For the last year I've been going with a very pretty, 28-year-old school teacher. I have asked her to marry me, but she says she is not in any hurry to get married.

She told me that she has been taking birth control pills for the last four years "in case she gets raped."

We have never been intimate. Don't get me wrong. I'm no angel. I've tried, but she won't let me. She claims she is still a virgin. As far as I know, she doesn't date anyone else. How do you figure this pill business?

LEARY IN SANTE FE

DEAR LEARY: It's possible, of course. But I find it a little hard to swallow.

DEAR ABBY: With Christmas approaching, my in-laws have already started to buy presents for our son (his only grandchild), which presents a problem.

Even though they know that we bought him a small tricycle for his third birthday last month, they have already bought him a racing car and a fire truck to drive. In addition to that, they've bought him a sled, a desk and chair set, an elaborate aquarium and a cowboy outfit, complete with a wooden "horse" to ride. And they are still buying!

We know they enjoy shopping for their only grandson, but showering him with presents creates problems. Our gifts and the gifts of the other grandparents who can't afford much will look like nothing. Also, our son will not be able to appreciate anything.

Abby, do we have the right to limit the amount of gifts my husband's parents give our child?

My husband says we shouldn't deprive them of this pleasure. I disagree.

AWAITING YOUR WORD

DEAR AWAITING: I vote with you. If your parents want to indulge the child, suggest that they buy him one gift and start a savings account for him. The boy may not appreciate it now, but he will when it's time to go to college.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are senior citizens. We live in the suburbs and do not drive.

When we are invited out, it is proper to ask the hostess if she has invited someone who lives near us and drives and if he wouldn't mind meeting us at a convenient bus stop or picking us up? And if it's proper to ask, who should call these people to make the arrangements? The hostess or us?

If we could get there by a simple bus ride there would be no problem. But the places we're usually invited to require two or three bus transfers or are places that can't be reached by bus at all.

We realize that taxis are available, but they're too expensive for us.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: It is not improper to inquire. However, the thoughtful hostess who is aware of your circumstances will make appropriate suggestions when possible. (P.S. Chronic ride-alongs should remember to reward the driver with a modest gift.)

Great Apostrophe Conspiracy

This is getting to be the loneliest outpost in the world. When we launched our campaign against the aberrant apostrophe nearly a year ago, we expected a few people to rally to our banner. Retired copy editors, perhaps. Or college professors. Or other English language purists.

Our disappointment has been almost total. Other than one jocular letter to the editor, the response has been coast-to-coast silence. Meanwhile, those pesky little apostrophes keep wriggling in where they've never been before and where they certainly don't belong. In our frustration, we are reduced to stopping passersby in the street and, gibbering piteously, showing them our collection, which grows daily:

—From our sister newspaper, the World-News: "The VEA has been complaining... that the state grievance procedure is ineffective... because school board's throughout the state rule unilaterally..."

—From a local politician's news release: "I said I believed that 'jobs and good jobs for all Virginians' capable of working" was the most important issue..."

—From "Ferhuddled English," a collection of quaint expressions published in Pennsylvania Dutch country: "Aun't Minnie sits broad..."

—From an outdoors feature in this newspaper: "When Server told them it would be $5 each per hour, they weren't swimming in it..."

—From a character in Brickman's "the small society," nationally syndicated cartoon that appears on these pages: "What get's me is..."

What get's us is that nobody else seems to care. They've all been tranquilized. Burrowing from within, those apostrophes are gradually taking over. We are not ready to call it a Commie plot. But we are watching the Soviet newspapers. And the first time we see an apostrophe in a Russian word, we'll know they've started sending signals to each other.

A Timely Reminder

A recent nationwide survey, "The General Mills American Family Report, 1975" has found that most people no longer consider that merely owing money is to be in debt. Today you're really in debt only if you fall behind in the monthly payments on what you owe. Why should a people whose nation can't even pay the interest on its public debt, worry about their own? You can't take it with you, you're not likely to die rich anyhow, so you may as well leave behind a reminder that you were here.

TODAY'S TOPIC: PORN AND THE MOB

Several years ago, New York State authorities revealed the fact that organized crime was heavily involved in the production of pornographic material. Fresh confirmation of the link between porn and the mob has come from The New York Times.

In an important piece of enterprise journalism, The Times has disclosed that "nearly all of the major hardcore pornographic newspapers and periodicals in the United States are distributed by companies controlled by organized crime members." The Times has reported the details of Mafia involvement in distribution companies.

The country as a whole fails to pay sufficient attention to the threat posed by the smut trade. This branch of the Mafia crime cartel poses a threat not merely to property but to morality in America. Each year, untold millions of copies of the most debased publications are distributed nationwide, polluting communities.

It is strange that millions of Americans are disturbed about air and water pollution, while completely ignoring the far worse danger of mind-pollution caused by pornography.

Cynics say that no one is corrupted by reading a book. A society can be corrupted, however, by all-pervasive pornography that strikes at every decent and normal human relationship. Pornographic material is material for sick minds. Moreover, it induces sickness.

The basic evil of pornography is the anti-human quality of it. Obscene reading matter is as anti-human as torture or brainwashing or other concentration camp processes. The purpose of pornography is to distort what is natural. No civilized community can tolerate pornography, any more than it can tolerate torture. Yet American society today, as a result of a series of toleration decisions by the U. S. Supreme Court, permits the wide cir-ulation of pornography.

If the American people have not lost sight of moral values, they will insist that the law be strengthened to deal effectively with the manufacturers and distributors of filth.

Pornography should be seen as a form of crime, and a particularly vicious form the undermines the moral foundations of society. That organized crime is deeply involved in the smut traffic is not surprising, for distribution of porn is on a par with dope peddling.

Perhaps a wider public recognition of the role of the Mafia in pushing pornographic magazines, films, and books will cause the public to demand tough legislative and police action.

The Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP) — During the few weeks immediately preceding President Ford's statement that the federal government would not intervene to forestall a New York City default, the nation's municipal bond market had been rebounding.

While confidence in the continuation of the improving trend still exists, even if the New York City financial predicament worsens, it is less evident now than it was a week ago.

Through much of this year the market had been badly depressed by what dealers said was a ripple effect emanating from New York, but gradually it was shaking off that fear.

Interest rates paid by municipalities were declining. The value of their bonds was improving. A rally was under way.

To some experienced bondsmen, this suggested investors had evaluated the market and concluded that New York's plight might be segregated rather than interpreted as a symbol of general municipal weakness.

While the President's decision might have worsened New York's situation, some municipal bond authorities still believe the greatest damage to other cities might already have taken place, and that further damage will be relatively light.

Nobody can be certain, however, especially since a fresh consideration has been tossed into the equation in the form of a presidential suggestion that bankruptcy laws be changed to enable cities to more easily obtain court protection.

A plausible consequence of such an eventual would be to reduce the marketability of bonds holding less than the highest ratings.

Whatever ensues, there is unanimous agreement among bondsmen that the general deterioration of confidence in bonds up to about three or four weeks ago has cost cities and towns throughout the country many millions of dollars this year.

Whatever direction the market takes from now on, however, events of the past three weeks have shown that investment

What Is Recovery Inc?

By Ruth Schaeffer

We are back with further information about the beneficial effects of Recovery Inc., which was founded and developed by the late Abraham A. Low M. D. and a psychiatrist.

Dr. Low says the method is simple once learned, but the practice is tireless effort, and ceaseless toil. It is well worth the effort and toil to be able to function in a more relaxed, more effective manner. Recovery can do what we may think not possible.

A psychiatrist at the University of Indiana School of Medicine made an in-depth research of Recovery Inc., to determine why it is effective. He found that psychiatrically ill patients turned to Recovery Inc. and had not been disappointed. He also predicts a wider acceptance of Recovery Inc. by physicians. It is recognized by the American Psychiatric Association for its effectiveness through the total practice of the Recovery method. You must want to help yourself.

It works! So be kind to yourself. Attend a few meetings. If the ups and downs of daily living and coping are too difficult or only difficult, come to Recovery. You can be helped.

There may be other articles to further the meaningful program of Recovery Inc. in the area.

Paper Drive A Success

Dear Editor:

Boy Scout Troup 77 would like to thank the citizens of Murray who participated in the paper drive on Saturday, November 1, 1975.

The drive was a tremendous success. We collected many thousands of papers which will be recycled. They will be used in many paper products, thus saving trees which would otherwise have to be used.

I would like to thank Mr. Thomas Pickard, Mr. Ray Clark, Mr. Thomas Carruthers, Mr. Arvin Crafton, and Scoutmaster O. B. Boone for their special help in driving and helping us load the papers.

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems—fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio 45415. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

Heartline: I'm getting disability payments from the V.A. but my application for disability benefits from Social Security was denied. Can you tell me why? —T.R.

Answer: There is no limitation on the combined benefits (V.A.-S.S.A.) you can receive. However, you can get payments under Social Security only if you are so disabled that you can't do any kind of gainful work in keeping with your age, education and work experience.

This definition of disability is different from other Federal agencies or private companies. Therefore, entitlement to disability benefits from some other agency or company would not necessarily mean that you would also qualify for disability benefits under Social Security.

Heartline: My mother is very old and tends to lose her Social Security checks. I have had to request to have several checks reissued to her. Could I have her checks sent to me so that I can take care of them? —G.A.

Answer: If your mother is truly incapable of handling her benefits, a representative payee could be designated to receive and manage the funds for her. If you are the person most concerned with taking care of your mother, you would, in all probability, be selected as her payee.

If you believe that in her own best interest your mother should not receive her own Social Security checks, you should contact any Social Security office. Your mother's physician or other medical source will then be contacted to determine his opinion of her capability.

If your mother cannot keep track of the check itself, but still is able to direct expenditures for herself, there is another possible solution to the problem; she could arrange to have her checks sent directly to a bank for deposit into her savings or checking account.

Heartline: I am 64 years old. I draw Social Security benefits, and I work part-time and make $205 per month. I also have some money in the bank, which I draw interest on, and dividends from some stock. With my interest and dividend payments, I will make over $2,520 per year. Will I be penalized by Social Security for making too much money? —T.B.F.

Answer: No. The reason you will not be penalized is because Social Security has two classifications for income: earned income and unearned income. Earned income is classified as income earned from working. Unearned income is any type of income other than income made from working.

Examples of unearned income would be periodic payments such as private retirement programs, Social Security, Civil Service, Railroad Retirement or Veteran's benefits and other income such as interest, dividends, rents, prizes, gifts and many other similar types of payments.

The only type of income that counts toward the allowable $2,520 is the earned income. In your case, only the $205 per month that you make from working will count toward your $2,520 per year.

Let's Stay Well

Influenza Vaccine Season

By F.J.L. Blassingame, M.D.

BLASSINGAME

Autumn is generally considered the appropriate time of the year for vaccination against influenza. Immunity against this disease is relatively short-lived, and vaccination needs to be repeated at intervals.

An annual vaccination against the flu should be given priority in high-risk persons and is strongly recommended for persons aged 65 years and over. Similarly, such a vaccination is indicated for younger persons who have chronic heart, broncho-pulmonary, kidney and metabolic (such as diabetes mellitus) diseases.

Complications arise more frequently in such persons during an influenza epidemic, and they account for a high percentage of fatal cases. Unfortunately, only about 10 to 15 per cent of these high-risk groups are vaccinated each year.

Pregnancy is not an indication for or against flu vaccination. This should be a decision for the physician managing the case.

Cases of influenza occur in sizable numbers annually in the United States, the count and distribution varying considerably from year to year. Periodically, this disease become epidemic, probably depending on the degree of immunity present in the population at that time.

The influenza viruses appear in two general categories — type A and type B. More epidemics are caused by type A influenza viruses than by type B, and type A epidemics are generally more severe.

Influenza vaccine is made up to contain both type A and type B viruses, and these include some strains of viruses which have been associated in recent years with epidemics.

If influenza vaccine is taken for the first time, the physician may suggest two doses separated by several weeks. The more potent vaccines now available usually give adequate protection by a single dose in those persons who have been receiving annual vaccinations.

Local reactions to the influenza vaccine, such as redness and tenderness at the injection site, are common. Mild systemic symptoms may occur, such as low-grade fever, headache and chills.

The influenza vaccine is prepared from viruses grown on chick embryos. Therefore, persons who are allergic to eggs should not take the vaccine unless it is administered under the care and direction of a physician.

Q: Mrs. E.D.'s children play with a neighbor boy who has been diagnosed as hyperactive, and she wants to know if her children can "catch" the disease.

A: Hyperactivity is not contagious nor communicable. Should any of your children mimic the hyperactive child's behavior, it will usually last but a short time.

Q: Miss D.M. complains of red bumps on her legs after shaving and asks for help.

A: You are probably shaving too closely. Let the hair on your legs grow out a little longer than usual to allow time for healing. Shave less often and less closely, perhaps with a blade that is somewhat dull. You may benefit by using an electric razor.

The Family Lawyer

Death Of A Horse

Martin summoned a local veterinarian to check his ailing filly. After an examination the veterinarian decided to perform a minor surgical procedure. But within hours the horse was dead. Did Martin have a good claim for damages? In a court suit he argued that the surgical procedure "must have" caused the horse's death.

However, an expert witness testified that the veterinarian had followed sound professional practice and that the treatment itself could not have been fatal. Result: case dismissed.

By and large, a veterinarian's legal obligation is merely to do competent work. Unless he makes a specific guarantee, he is not bound to produce a specific result. As one court put it:

"Negligence (cannot) be implied from the failure to effect a cure. Such failure may have arisen from inherent difficulties such as to 'baffle' the highest degree of skill."

On the other hand a veterinarian, like anyone in the healing arts, may be held liable for a substandard performance.

In another case a veterinarian dipped four dogs, afflicted with the mange, in a chemical bath. But the bath was so strong that all four dogs perished.

In due course this veterinarian was held liable for the outcome. The court said he had not shown the "skill expected of careful and trustworthy persons in his profession."

In one unusual case a veterinarian taking care of a kick horse suddenly stopped coming, without giving the owner either a warning or an explanation. By the time the owner was able to get a substitute, the horse had taken a sharp turn for the worse.

Here too the veterinarian was held liable after ward in court. Once having agreed to treat the animal, said the court, he could not so capriciously cast off his professional responsibilities.

Championship Quarter Horse Show, Louisville

The second annual World Championship Quarter Horse Show, to be held November 7-11 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville, will bring together an unprecedented number of the nation's top Quarter Horses in competition.

Sponsored by Ponderosa System, Inc., the five-day show will feature competition for purse money in excess of $100,000. Eligibility will be based on a predetermined number of points earned in halter and performance class events at AQHA (American Quarter Horse Association) approved shows between January 1 and August 31, 1975.

Enrants from Canada, Mexico and the United States have qualified for competition in 45 sanctioned events. The show is billed as "one of the richest and most prestigious Quarter Horse shows ever held," with the first-place winner of each class to be designated as World Champion.

Considered by many to be the most versatile horse breed in the world, Quarter Horses are used in rodeo events, day-to-day ranch work, and racing. A well-muscled horse that can spring from a standing start with unequalled speed, the Quarter

Horse is well adapted for the quick turns and rapid accelerations needed in such events as pole bending, barrel racing, calf roping, reining and cow cutting.

The rules and regulations, selection of judges and qualification standards for the World Championship Quarter Horse Show will be under the jurisdiction of the American Quarter Horse Association of Amarillo, Texas. The 70,000-member association, which was founded in 1940, has an equine register of more than one million Quarter Horses.

Competition sessions will be held daily at 8:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m., and 8:00 p. m. except Tuesday, November 11, when only the morning and afternoon sessions will be held. In conjunction with the competition, there will be a trade show with displays of equestrian equipment, Western wear and veterinary supplies. Entertainment will be headlined by Charlie Pride, Marty Robbins and Waylon Jennings.

More information may be obtained by writing World Championship Quarter Horse Show, Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, P. O. Box 21179, Louisville, Kentucky 40221.

Forrestry Officials

Going Back To School

FRANKFORT, Ky.—About 200 foresters and fire fighters went back to school recently.

Almost all the field personnel of the division of forestry in the Kentucky department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection gathered at Kentucky Dam Village for three days of training designed to prepare them for the upcoming fall forest fire season.

Divided into groups of 50, the students studied the problems of fire behavior, safety on fire lines and first aid, as well as reviewed forest management and utilization. Said Harry Nadler, director of the forestry division, "We hope we never have to use some of the things taught here, but our people must be trained in case there is an accident during the fighting of a forest fire."

Nadler said the three-day session is the only training session which brings together at one time personnel from all nine district offices plus Frankfort. "This statewide meeting," said Nadler, "gives our personnel from the various districts an opportunity to discuss mutual problems."

Districts conduct their own periodic training sessions during the year and foresters receive individual training. The district offices are in Morehead, Prestonsburg, Hazard, Pineville, Stamping Ground, Elizabethtown, Campbellsville, Madisonville and Mayfield. A few fire fighters remained in each district office during the recent school.

Awards for outstanding work were presented during the school by Nadler. Andrew Addott of Route 4 Monticello received an award for the best job on fire control, prevention and suppression. Addott is a unit ranger, responsible for supervising fire control activities in Wayne, Clinton and Cumberland counties.

Charles R. Skaggs of Putney received an award for the best overall job during the spring tree sale campaign. Skaggs is a county ranger in Harlan County, which is part of the southeastern district.

The central district, based in Elizabethtown, was cited for outstanding work during the spring tree planting season. A plaque was presented to A.E. Sturdivant, the district forester over the central district.

About 20 service awards were presented to persons who have worked for the forestry division for 10, 15 or 20 years.

Vets Should Apply Soon For Education Now

Some 94,000 women veterans who have not yet used their current GI Bill for education or training still have time to do so, but they should apply immediately to the nearest Veterans Administration regional office, VA advises.

The deadline for completion of training (even including last year's two-year extension for veterans discharged after January 31, 1955) is May 31, 1976, or 10 years from the veteran's date of discharge, whichever is later.

Only 46 per cent of the 174,000 women veterans eligible have trained under the current GI Bill. The comparable figure for male veterans is 59 per cent.

Of the 80,000 women veterans who have used the current GI Bill for training, some may now be eligible for a special retroactive payment from VA. Those who were enrolled under the GI Bill, while married, between June 1, 1966, and October 24, 1972, are eligible for an additional $30 for each month of enrollment if they were not paid at the rate for married veterans.

The special payment is to equalize benefits with those received by married male veterans who trained under the GI Bill during this time, as the men received an allowance for wives.

Women veterans who meet these requirements should contact the nearest VA regional office to file claims for the money. The cutoff date for filing claims for the special payment is July 1, 1976, and proof of marriage while in training under the GI Bill must be furnished in connection with the claim.

Women veterans who proved to VA while they were in training that their husbands were permanently disabled and incapable of self-support already have been paid the additional amount, as have the women veterans who trained after October 24, 1972.

Women who trained under the Korean conflict and World War II GI Bills are not eligible for the retroactive amount for husbands, it was noted.

South African gun laws are tough

Gun laws in South Africa are among the strictest in the world.

Since the right to bear arms is not a part of the South African constitution, it is impossible for any citizen to buy any type of gun without a license, and absolute proof of need is required before a license is issued.

PUBLIC TRANSIT POLL

A poll commissioned by the Highway Users Federation shows that 31 per cent of Americans favor paying for new public transportation systems with existing taxes other than gasoline levies; 26 per cent favor boosting transit fares, and 25 per cent want to use existing gas taxes.

Finch Elected Governor Of Mississippi Over Challenge

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

Democrat Cliff Finch was elected governor of Mississippi by overcoming the state's strongest Republican challenge this century and Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll survived an anti-busing backlash threat in off-year elections. Women were elected lieutenant governors in both states.

With 1,751 of 2,133 Mississippi precincts counted in unofficial returns, Finch had 50.6 per cent of the votes, leading Republican Gil Carmichael 287,336 to 265,291. Black independent Henry Kirksey of Jackson trailed with 15,114.

The voters in both Kentucky and Mississippi picked women as lieutenant governors Tuesday. But the women's rights cause suffered a stunning setback when voters in New Jersey and New York rejected state versions of the federal Equal Rights Amendment.

With New York's fiscal problems on the minds of voters, a number of large bond issues lost, including a record $4.5 billion package in Ohio, $922 million in New Jersey and $350 million in New York.

The Democrats kept legislative control in four states: Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia.

As is usual the year before a presidential election, Tuesday's widely scattered contests produced mixed results. There were no national trends and few surprises.

The Republicans had placed their major emphasis on Mississippi. Carmichael, a 48-year-old Meridian businessman, ran a strong race there against Sen. James O. Eastland in 1972. Finch, a Batesville attorney, had been the surprise winner of two rounds of Democratic primaries.

The state's lieutenant governor contest was more one-sided as Democrat Evelyn Gandy, 55, now insurance commissioner, whipped Republican Mayor Bill Patrick of Laurel.

In Kentucky, Democrat Carroll easily won a full four-year term in the post he inherited when his predecessor, Wendell Ford, went to the U.S. Senate. The 44-year-old Carroll, a Paducah attorney and racial moderate, piled up big margins in predominantly Democratic rural areas and held down Republican Robert Gable's expected big margins in the suburbs surrounding Louisville.

Both candidates had deployed the court-ordered busing that rocked that city this fall. But the anti-incumbent backlash feared by Carroll supporters never materialized.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Thelma Stovall, 56, now secretary of state, defeated her male Republican opponent, businessman Shirley Palmer-Ball.

In the day's major municipal contests, winners included Mayors Kevin H. White of Boston, Ralph Perk of Cleveland, Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, William Donald Schaefer of Baltimore and Maurice Ferre of Miami.

In the only major surprise, Democratic Mayor Albert Hofstede of Minneapolis was unseated by the man he had beaten two years earlier, policeman and former Mayor Charles Stenvig.

In Boston, the 46-year-old White won a third term over state Sen. Joseph Timilty, 37, by about 7,500 votes out of some 150,000 cast.

As in Kentucky, the two candidates took roughly similar positions on the local busing controversy, criticizing the court-ordered plan while urging that the law be obeyed.

In other large cities, Mayor Fred Hofheinz led four rivals in Houston but failed to get 50 per cent and will vie in a runoff against his closest challenger, former Harris County Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe.

In San Francisco, state Sen. George Moscone led an 11-candidate field, clinching a spot in the Dec. 11 runoff. Pre-election favorite Dianne Feinstein, president of the county board of supervisors, was running slightly behind Supervisor John Bar-bagelata for a spot in the runoff against Moscone.

In Indianapolis, Republican William Hudnut, a former congressman, defeated Democratic businessman Robert Welch for the post now held by retiring GOP Mayor Richard G. Lugar.

In Gary, black mayor Richard G. Hatcher won another term.

Rizzo, Schaefer and Ferre all scored one-sided wins, while Perk, a white Republican, won by more than expected against Arnold Pinkney, a black Democrat, in Cleveland's nonpartisan election.

In Ohio, the $4.5 billion bond package proposed by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes to revitalize the state's economy lost by a 4 to 1 margin. "The people of Ohio have spoken, and I will abide by their decision," Rhodes said.

In New Jersey, Democratic Gov. Brendan Byrne blamed "President Ford's harsh treatment of the New York problem" for the rejection of $922 million in bond issues.

The New York and New Jersey votes against state equal rights proposals, meanwhile, were seen as a major blow to hopes for ratification of a national equal rights amendment.

Ruth Clusen, national president of the League of Women Voters, said it means "we must redouble our efforts" to get approval in four additional state legislatures. So far, 34 states have approved the amendment; approval by 38 of the 50 states ratifies a constitutional amendment.

A Yarn With A New Twist

A weekly course of five sessions entitled "A Yarn with a New Twist" to teach techniques of finishing textiles will be offered as part of the Life and Learning series at Murray State University beginning Tuesday evening, Nov. 11.

To be taught by Sallie T. Guy, the course will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday Nov. 11-Dec. 9 in Room 422 of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center on the campus.

Participants will learn a variety of finishing techniques that will add custom touches to clothing, accessories, linens, pillows, rugs and other textile pieces. They will make samples, so that they will be able to trim textiles on their own.

Enrollment will be limited to 20 students accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. The registration fee for five sessions is $15, and the cost of materials is $5 payable to the instructor at the first class meeting.

Dr. Donald E. Jones, dean of continuing education, said persons may register in the Center for Continuing Education in Sparks Hall, he said they should submit name, address and Social Security number, along with the registration fee.

Additional information may be obtained by calling (502) 762-4159 or 762-2086.

A 28-0 victory over Tarleton State helped Texas A&I attract 30 of the 43 first-place ballots in the poll of sports writers and broadcasters across the country. The voters gave A&I a total of 369 points—a 53-point lead over North Dakota, which took over second place.

Boise State and Grambling each picked up a notch. Boise moved to third place with 266 points following a 39-28 decision over Mankato State. Grambling downed Texas Southern 37-21 and took over No. 4.

Wittenberg gained two positions, from seventh to fifth, after demolishing Ohio Wesleyan 45-16.

Spirits Slip By Stars For Fifth Straight Win

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Spirits of St. Louis made it five straight Tuesday night with Don Adams, Freddie Lewis and Marvin Barnes combining for 76 points in a 115-110 American Basketball Association victory over the Utah Stars.

There were no other ABA games scheduled.

Spirits' Coach Rod Thorn credited, in part, Adams with his consistent game performance for the victory but called Barnes' play late in the fourth quarter the turning point.

"We were up by only a couple of points and Barnes came through with a three-point play. I knew we could do it from then on," Thorn said.

St. Louis had won three of the four previous games without Barnes, who had suffered a pulled muscle.

At game's end, Adams and Lewis each had 27 points, tying Utah's John Roche for game scoring honors. Barnes added 22 for the Spirits and Ron Boone aided the Utah cause with 25 points.

St. Louis held a 22-20 lead after one quarter, but Roche started driving to the basket in the second period. The spunky little guard put in 14 points in the quarter and the Stars moved to a five-point lead before Adams rallied the Spirits to a 53-52 halftime edge.

Boone and Roche sparked Utah to a 72-63 lead in the third period, but Barnes and Lewis brought the Spirits right back so they led 83-78 going into the final stretch.

Utah's Randy Denton caught a Maurice Lucas elbow in the forehead on a rebound in the third period, touching off a row that cleared both benches and held up the game for five minutes until order was restored.

Denton left the game for repairs but was back in action in the last period.

The game was tied at 92 midway in the final quarter when the Spirits, led again by Adams and Barnes, moved to a 102-94 margin and held on for the victory.

Mike Hobbie Named OVC Player Of Week

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mike Hobbie, who engineered one of the biggest upsets of the season, was honored today by the Ohio Valley Conference as its offensive football player of the week.

Hobbie, a senior quarterback from Atlanta, Ga., completed 15 of 25 passes for 188 yards in leading Murray State University to a 26-7 victory over then No. 2-ranked Eastern Kentucky.

"I can't say too much about Hobbie's execution," Coach Bill Ferguson said. "He played up to his capabilities for the first time at Murray, but he didn't play over his head."

Ferguson said Hobbie called the plays himself in the game

Sports Editor

Dave Kindred: Sitting At The Top

Today we will continue with the second part of the column on Dave Kindred, the Courier-Journal sports editor who was here Monday night.

Kindred doesn't necessarily try to be another Don Rickles, though sometimes readers get that impression.

"If sports has a purpose, it's to have fun," Kindred said.

"I try to reflect that fun in what I write in the paper."

As a result, he's had eggs thrown at him, has had a pie slapped in his face and has received hundreds of hate letters.

"Last basketball season, I did a column about why Indiana was going to beat Kentucky in the NCAA Tournament. You should have seen some of the letters I got."

"One guy wrote and told me he was glad I had my picture in my column because he knew then for sure he had seen me earlier... in a zoo somewhere in Florida."

"Another guy sent me a copy of the column and some brown stuff wrapped in clear plastic. The note said it was something to help flavor the article with. Of course it was original Kentucky Bluegrass horse manure."

Kindred never worries about what the public thinks about him or his writing.

"You can't write for the people that read the paper, you have to write for yourself."

"You have to write what you believe to be true. As long as people believe what you are writing, you have it made whether they like what you say or not. If you write one bad thing, that's what they remember. They never remember all the good things you write."

Kindred used Dan Issel as an example.

"After the last game of his senior season, he came up and told me thanks for the good things I had said about him. Later on, when he was with the Colonels, I wrote that he couldn't play defense and was slow with his lateral movement."

"His wife called me up and told me I was trying to ruin Dan's career."

Kindred said when he was in college, he used to watch the University of Illinois play basketball on television. "After the game, I'd go back to my room and write a story about it."

"My advice to high school students and college students who want to go into journalism is to read everything and write, write, write."

He has no routine. Sometimes he's going to games, sometimes he's doing interviews and sometimes he's traveling. "It's the greatest job in the world."

Kindred can't go much higher in his field. At the age of 34, he's where most writers will never be and the ones who do make it will be 20-years older when they get there.

From my job here, there is nothing but respect. Dave Kindred is at the top, I am near the bottom. And there's a vast gulf that divides us. Yet at one time, he was at the basement. It gives me a goal to shoot for and it should give everyone a goal and an inspiration.

If I learned one thing from Dave Kindred's visit here, it is this: You might think you're good in something. Then one day, you meet somebody who is much better. It has a strange effect.

What are some of the major differences in his job and my job?

He travels more than I do, of course. But aside from that, it's about the same. He even has letdowns.

"Maybe, if somebody mails them a copy, a major league baseball player might know who I am when he sees me again after a story I've done on him."

"But unless it's just an unusually great story, they don't remember you."

So much for the glamor and glory.

There's the bad things. Like the obscene phone calls and nasty letters from biased people who read unbiased stories.

But all in all, we're doing the same thing. In different ways, in different parts of the world, we're trying to make reading the sports page interesting and fun.

I hope it has been and will continue to be.

Boyle County Finally Moves Into Class AA Grid Ratings

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It took quite a while for the experts to get around to Ed Rall's football team, but the youthful Boyle County coach had quite a product to show off when recognition finally arrived.

After several weeks among the also-rans, Boyle County finally broke into The Associated Press high school football poll this week, climbing into the fifth spot in the State AA ratings.

Although his team is 8-2, losing only to Frankfort and to Jessamine County when a raft of injuries swept away the team's quarterbacks, Rall apparently didn't mind being ignored for most of the year.

"I like being the underdog," he admitted in a telephone conversation from his Danville home. "If someone says you're a two touchdown underdog, you can use that as a psychological weapon."

With its new ranking—"that's probably the highest Boyle County has ever been ranked," he said—Boyle County isn't likely to be an underdog to too many teams anymore.

Rall feels that early season rankings can often be wrong, "but late in the season, it means something."

Rall's first team finished 8-3 and, while he was optimistic about this season, injuries to his top three quarterbacks apparently signalled bad times.

"Our defense has held us together," he said, allowing the offense to score what points it can to win the game. Premier performers defensively include end Kyle Lorton, a 6-foot-4, 210-pound senior who "in the last four or five games has been super," Rall said.

Other offensive players cited by the OVC, from its headquarters here, for outstanding play last weekend includes:

—Mike Moore of Middle Tennessee, who set a school record for a single game by gaining 212 yards on 28 carries against Western Carolina. Moore scored two touchdowns.

—Bobby Joe Easter of Middle Tennessee, who gained 177 yards rushing, including a 72-yard scamper for a touchdown.

—Jimmy Woods of Western Kentucky, who scored touchdowns on runs of three and 22 yards in his team's come from behind victory over Morehead.

—Murray Cunningham of Tennessee Tech, who upped his own OVC career record for field goals to 25 with kicks of 33 and 49 yards in a 48-6 victory over East Tennessee.

—Dennis Law of East Tennessee, who caught two passes for 90 yards and scored his team's only touchdown.

—Elmo Boyd of Eastern Kentucky, who scored his team's only touchdown on a spectacular 23-yard pass reception.

—Don Nardin of Morehead, who set school records for the most punts in a game, 11, and the longest punt, 78 yards.

Palmer Selected For AL Cy Young Award

By LARRY SIDONS
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — A warm, sunny day in the off season usually finds Jim Palmer on the golf course.

But while the skies were bright and temperatures reached the mid 70s Tuesday, the Baltimore Orioles' right-hander stayed in his backyard garden, waiting for the telephone to ring.

The choice paid off. Late in the day, Palmer received a call telling him he had been named winner of the Cy Young Award as the American League's top pitcher.

"I was out in the garden spreading mulch when I found out," said Palmer, a Cy Young winner for the second time in three years. "Normally on a day like this I would have been playing golf, but I knew the award was supposed to be announced so I decided to stick close to home."

Palmer, who came back from an injury-plagued 1974 season to post a 23-11 record this year, outdistanced Catfish Hunter of the New York Yankees in voting by a special 24-member panel of the Baseball Writers

Association of America.

The only pitcher named on all 24 ballots cast, Palmer finished with a total of 98 points including 15 first-place votes. Hunter — who won last year's Cy Young Award with the Oakland A's — finished with 75 points including seven first-place ballots. Hunter was named by 22 voters.

Rollie Fingers of Oakland was third with 25 points, including two first-place votes. California's Frank Tanana and Chicago's Jim Kaat had seven points apiece, followed by Oakland's Vida Blue and Chicago's Rich Gossage, each with two points. Boston's Rick Wise received one point.

First place was worth five points, second place three points and third place one point. The balloting, with eight pitchers receiving votes, was the most diversified since the award was first presented in 1956.

Hunter, who also won 23 games after getting off to a slow start with the Yankees, had been considered Palmer's stiffest competition for the prize. But the Orioles' ace said he was confident he'd come out on top with the voters.

Asked if he thought he was the best pitcher in the league, Palmer replied: "I think I'm one of the best. The statistics show I had a better year than Catfish, but I don't think I'm any better than him."

Besides his 23 victories, which tied him with Hunter for the most in the major leagues, Palmer topped the majors with a 2.09 earned run average and 10 shutouts.

Palmer's 23 victories in 1975 give him a career won-lost record of 152-80 for a .655 winning percentage, the best among active pitchers.

Only four other pitchers have won two Cy Young Awards, including Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Denny McLain of Detroit and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles. Koufax is the only three-time winner.

McKay Says Money Not Reason For Leaving Job

By DAN BERGER
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — John McKay says money wasn't the main reason he decided to leave the University of Southern California for the new Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League.

And McKay said he won't be making as much as has been reported.

McKay announced last week that he was leaving as the university's football coach and athletic director. Newspaper reports said he would earn nearly $2 million on a five-year contract.

"Those figures are so ridiculously out of line it makes my job five times as difficult. A lot of pro coaches will read that and go to their owners and try to get $2 million. I wouldn't pay that kind of money for five football coaches with Jim Brown thrown in."

McKay said he had made no recommendations to school officials on who should replace him but added, "I would think they'll add two jobs. With more women becoming involved in sports and the cutdown on spending, the athletic director is busy. It's only about a 99-hour a day job."

McKay chided one reporter who printed the "details" of McKay's contract, which included a $350,000 house and five automobiles. Puffing on his customary cigar, McKay said, "I imagine when I get to my $350,000 house I'll find a cigar factory inside it. In fact, for the past week all I've been doing is hiring four chauffeurs."

Asked where he planned to live, McKay quipped: "In that $350,000 house I read about. I just don't know where I'm gonna get the money for all the furniture for that place."

McKay said he didn't want to make the announcement of his departure this soon but newspaper reports disrupted his family and he had to. And he said he agrees with a statement Monday by Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, who said, "I've never seen a good coach who is a lame duck coach."

"I feel personally relieved that I announced it," said McKay, "but Woody is probably correct on that statement. I don't think I can be as effective a coach now."

WHO HAS IT? — Jeff Owens of the Steelers gets ready to pounce on the loose football while Kevin Calvin (light uniform) of the Browns watches. Moving into help on the play for the Steelers is Charlie Santagado.

Steelers And Colts Win League Contests

The Little League football season came to a close Tuesday night in Holland Stadium and the Steelers got what they wanted: an undefeated season.

The Steelers ripped the Browns 26-0 to run their record to an unblemished 6-0. And in recording the shutout win, posted an unscored-upon season to boot.

In the other contest, the Colts took third place in the league by clipping the Bears 6-0.

It didn't take the Steelers long to get on the scoreboard as Charlie Santagado scored on a four-yard run with 3:59 left in the opening six-minute period. But for the rest of the first half and most of the third period, the Steelers got all they wanted and even more from the fired-up Browns. Finally, with 1:01 left in the third period, the Steelers got the momentum going their way as Santagado scored on a one-yard plunge up the middle and Chris Fazi added the action point to go up 13-0.

With less than two minutes left in the contest, Todd Rutherford hauled in a 10-yard scoring pass from Santagado in the action and that made it 19-0. Then with just 46 seconds left in the game, Santagado scored on a 14-yard run down the right side. Nicky Santagado added the action point and the final score of 26-0 was on the board.

The Browns had some good running in the game from Kevin Calvin who looked very impressive on several occasions as did runningbacks David Dickson and Craig Crawford. On defense, John Purdom had an outstanding game.

For the Steelers, Charlie Santagado had a total of 135 yards while Tommy Workman added 55. As a team, the Steelers ran up 277 yards. The coaching staff of the Steelers commended the entire team for its super season, the only one in recent years where the championship team did not give up any points during the year.

The coaching staff of the Steelers included Nicky Ryan, Kenny Humphreys and Greg Henning.

In the second contest, the only score came with no time left on the clock.

Nebraska And Oklahoma Not Overlooking Games

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — All eyes in the Big Eight are beginning to look ahead to Nov. 22 when Nebraska invades Norman, Okla., for its annual showdown with Oklahoma. This one likely will determine the conference champion and contender for the national championship.

The only folks not looking ahead to Nov. 22 are Coaches Barry Switzer of Oklahoma and Tom Osborne of Nebraska. They're more concerned with Nov. 8 when Oklahoma enters Kansas and Nebraska visits Kansas State.

"I hope our football team won't be looking past Kansas ... and Missouri ... to the Nebraska game," says Switzer. "I think the Kansas game will be a tough one. They played Kansas State better than we did. Quarterback Nolan Cromwell presents a problem and Mike Butler is the most talented defensive lineman in the league other than our Dewey and LeRoy Selmon."

Osborne says he's "concerned that our players stay sharp and don't look ahead. I think Kansas State has a better team than Indiana, and Indiana came awfully close to beating supposedly the No. 1 team in the country, Ohio State."

Looking ahead to Saturday ... Oklahoma 38-14, Nebraska 42-7.

Last week's score was 53 right, 16 wrong for a .768 percentage. For the year, 387-135-10-.714.

Ohio State at Illinois: Can the Illini do what Indiana almost did? Uh-Uh ... Ohio State 34-14.

Southern Methodist at Texas A&M: Out of the Texas trying pan into the A&M fire for the Mustangs. And it will be hot because of last year's upset ... Texas A&M 28-10.

Alabama at Louisiana State: Bear Bryant hardly ever loses to ex-pupils and Cholly Mac has had trouble beating anyone this year ... Alabama 31-7.

Purdue at Michigan: Boilermakers are boiling over last year's 51-0 rout. Wolverines are boiling over last week's officiating in the Minnesota game. Temper, temper ... Michigan 28-7.

Baylor at Texas: Darrell Royal says Baylor's "got to be encouraged by the liberties SMU took running straight at us." But Baylor's got to be discouraged when Earl Campbell runs straight at them. Revenge for last year's 34-24 second-half comeback ... Texas 34-14.

North Carolina State at Penn State: More revenge. State, N.C. version, won last year. State wins this year, too ... Penn State 30-13.

Stanford at Southern California: Cards would like nothing better than to knock off USC, their last shot at John McKay in this bitter feud. Sorry ... Southern Cal 28-10.

Record Expected

SYDNEY (AP) — British yacht Great Britain II is expected to easily break the 105-year-old sailing record from London to Sydney with an arrival in Sydney on Thursday, according to organizers of the 13,900-mile race.

Great Britain II was 200 miles from Sydney along the southeast coast of Australia at 3 p.m. local time Wednesday. French entry Kriter II was believed to be 160 miles astern of the British yacht and was likely to arrive in Sydney 10 or 11 hours later.

The record for the crossing was set by the clipper ship Patriarch in 1869.

sunville: Galloping Gators not likely to forget last year's 17-16 upset ... Florida 28-14.

Georgia Tech at Notre Dame: Irish defenders will be hard-pressed to stop Tech ramblers. Tech ramblers will be pressed hard after Irish defenders hit them ... Notre Dame 21-17.

Oklahoma State at Colorado: A lot of bowls would like to have these two Big Eight also-rans ... Colorado 28-17.

Maryland at Cincinnati: Cincy gets a taste of the Terrapins' Big Red Machine ... Maryland 24-10.

Washington at California: One of these clubs cures its rose fever ... California 35-14.

Missouri at Iowa State: Cyclones catch Ol' Mizzou between Nebraska and Oklahoma. Upset! Special of the Week ... Iowa State 20-17.

Pitt at West Virginia: Touchdown Tony Dorsett vs. King Arthur Owens in pairing of two of the best runners in the country ... Pitt 28-20.

HERE IT COMES — Quarterback Tim Brown of the Bears gets ready to fire a pass in Little League play Tuesday. The Bears dropped a 6-0 contest to the Colts.

Youthful Phoenix Suns Bombard Veteran Bulls

By TIM WHITE
AP Sports Writer

You can't judge a basketball team's strength simply by its physical sinew, nor gauge its savvy by the sum total of its playing experience.

Rookie center Alvan Adams, dominating both backboards and making six steals, scored 15 points in the second half Tuesday night to lead the youthful Phoenix Suns past the Chicago Bulls 96-80 in a National Basketball Association contest.

Afterward, Bulls' Coach Dick Motta admitted he had underestimated the Suns, most especially their fledgling center, who grabbed 12 rebounds in the final half.

"I was surprised tonight by Adams," he said. "Not because

Bobby Hull Paces Jets By Whalers 3-2

By The Associated Press

Bobby Hull, who was reportedly interested in jumping back into the National Hockey League, is still very much a part of the World Hockey Association.

Just ask the New England Whalers.

Hull was on the ice for the Winnipeg Jets Tuesday night and after a scoreless first period, he made his presence quite evident. He scored his fifth goal of the season, at 10:08 of the first period, then assisted on Anders Hedberg's ninth goal, 4½ minutes later.

Third-period goals by Fred O'Donnell and Tommy Abrahamsson tied the game 2-2 but defenseman Mike Ford scored on a 25-foot slap shot at 4:06 of the sudden death overtime period to give the Jets a 3-2 victory.

Earlier, Hull quieted the rumors that he was heading back to his old NHL club, the Chicago Black Hawks, saying: "Unequivocally no, I'm not going back to Chicago. Okay?"

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Calgary Cowboys and San Diego Mariners skated to a 4-1 tie; the Indianapolis Racers nipped the Toronto Toros 4-3; the Quebec Nordiques shaded the Edmonton Oilers 4-3, and the Denver Spurs and Cleveland Crusaders played to a 2-2 tie.

Mariners 4, Cowboys 4, OT, tie. Hugh Harris' goal :52 into the third period tied the game and flawless goaltending from Russ Gillow of San Diego and Don McLeod of Calgary preserved the deadlock.

Harris scored his fourth goal of the season when he slapped home the rebound of a shot by Murry Keogan.

Racers 4, Toros 3. Bill Prentice scored for Indianapolis to forge a 3-3 tie and Brian Coates' third-period goal ended the Racers' two-game losing streak.

Frank Mahovich, Tony Featherstone and Mike Amadeo scored in the first period for the Toros, while Reg Thomas and Ron Buchanan connected for Indianapolis.

Nordiques 4, Oilers 3. A fluke goal, credited to seldom-used forward Tom Serviss, with 63 seconds left in the third period pulled Quebec past Edmonton.

Serviss cleared the puck from his side of center ice and the puck trickled in front of the Edmonton net, where Oilers goalie Chris Worthy and defenseman Kerry Ketter mixed up their assignments.

As the puck spun toward the goal line, Worthy swung and missed and it continued into the net.

Crusaders 2, Spurs 2, OT, tie. Mark Lomenda's 15-foot goal, his first of the season, at 2:15 in the third period gave Denver its overtime tie with Cleveland. Goalies Bob Whidden of Cleveland and Bob Johnson of Denver tamed the opposing offenses in the overtime period.

The first-year Spurs are still without a home victory after five games on their own ice.

BASEBALL

BALTIMORE—Right-hander Jim Palmer, who twice overcame arm miseries, was named winner of the American League's Cy Young award.

ANAHEIM, Calif.—California Angels' reserve infielder Rudy Meoli was sent to the San Diego Padres to complete an earlier trade which sent infielder-outfielder Bobby Valentine to the Padres for pitcher Gary Ross.

I thought he wasn't good, but I didn't think a rookie could handle us the way he did."

In other NBA action, Philadelphia upended Buffalo 121-114, Milwaukee edged Detroit 103-101, Houston defeated New York 119-106, Washington outlasted Cleveland 113-96, Kansas City beat Los Angeles 116-98 and Atlanta nipped Portland 98-

Adams' remarks after Phoenix's triumph seemed to sum up the Sun's spunky philosophy. "I have to give away a bit of weight and height, which means I can't outmuscle anybody," said the 6-foot-9, 210-pound center, who finished with 18 points. "But I feel I'm quicker and more agile and therefore can outjump either of the Chicago centers (Nate Thurmond and Tom Boerwinkle)." 76ers 121, Braves 114. Steve Mix scored eight of a string of 12 points as the 76ers broke a 99-all tie in the final period and took the lead for good, helping hand Buffalo its first loss of the season. Bucks 103, Pistons 101.

Bob Dandridge sank two free throws with six seconds left, rallying Milwaukee to its first win of the season. Dandridge had a 26-point night, while Brian Winters led the Bucks with 34.

Rockets 119, Knicks 106. Calvin Murphy kept the home fires burning, hitting New York for 33 points enroute to the Rockets' (2-3) second straight victory in Houston's new Summit Arena.

Bullets 113, Cavaliers 96. Elvin Hayes tossed in 23 points and Mike Riordan added 21 as Washington scored its third victory in four starts. Hayes notched 12 points in the first quarter as the Bullets bolted to a 20-4 lead and were never threatened.

Kings 116, Lakers 98. Kansas City Coach Phil Johnson received two technical fouls—an automatic ejection—in a four-minute span in the third period. His ejection seemed to fire up the Kings as they hit 70 per cent of their fourth-quarter shots for a 35-18 edge. Hawks 96, Trail Blazers 97.

Beame Criticizes Ford Action On New York City's Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Mayor Abraham Beame accused President Ford today of offering "a cop-out, not a cure" for New York City's fiscal ills. He said the President's attacks on New York have "triggered hatred, disunity and confusion."

The mayor said Ford, in criticizing New York, ignored the city's budget-cutting record. He listed payroll deductions, halts in city construction and closings of municipal facilities. He promised further money-saving measures, including a change in the free university system's financing and more hospital closings.

The mayor made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery before the National Press Club, one day after the disclosure that state officials had come up with enough money to avert default next week.

Beame said that he sought federal guarantees of future loans, but no tax dollars, from the government.

"New York is not asking the federal government or the public for one cent," he said. "On the other hand, default will cost America billions."

Beame's appearance at the club was designed to answer a speech Ford gave there one week ago when he outlined his plan for changing bankruptcy laws to enable the city to continue basic services in the case of a default.

Referring to that speech and other Ford attacks on New York City, Beame said, "The President's response to New York City reflects a kind of bumper sticker philosophy."

"He has used the city of New York as a foil for political slogans from Belgrade to San Francisco and back."

Beame added that this has set urban residents against rural Americans and Easterners against Midwesterners.

"The President's prescription for an economic and spiritual purge is a 17th Century remedy," the mayor said. "In 20th Century parlance, it's a cop-out, not a cure."

"Subjecting America's largest city to humiliation and impoverishment does not enhance either the economy or the moral fiber of our nation. The best cure for our financial ills is to have an opportunity to recuperate under a strictly supervised regimen of reform and retrenchment. A guarantee would permit that."

Beame said Ford has failed to take into account the effect a default by New York would have on the rest of the nation.

He referred to a report prepared by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress estimating that federal tax receipts would be reduced by $3.5 million and expenditures for unemployment compensation, food stamps and other programs would increase by $500 million.

He said a default would jeopardize payment for more than $1 billion in goods from around the nation.

Beame's speech followed New York Gov. Hugh L. Carey's announcement Tuesday that enough money was found to put together a $750 million package to keep the city from default on Nov. 14. Carey did not reveal details.

Carroll...

(Continued from Page 1) weeks ago, but his polls indicated the situation was turning. He indicated the results were kept secret to keep the busing controversy from flaring up again.

Bremer Ehrler, the Jefferson County chairman for Carroll, said the strategy was to accentuate the positive — explaining what the governor had tried to do against busing — rather than defending him on a charge that he failed to stop it.

Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach, defeated by Carroll in the primary by 155,000 votes, said the Louisville area realized the benefits it has obtained from the state-city partnership.

Gable had claimed before the election that a victory for him would send a message to politicians all over the nation that the people would not tolerate busing.

He reiterated that theme in defeat, declaring that the outcome shows "pro-busing politicians everywhere" should tremble.

"It's crystal clear from this election that they can't get away scot free at the polls," Gable said.

The GOP loser declined to tell of his plans, declaring "I'm still trying to analyze what happened in this election."

Some diehard supporters shouted at him to "ring the bell," a reference to a campaign gimmick used by Gable. He carried a small bell which he tingled for emphasis or when he felt his opponent was not telling the truth.

Despite such touches of humor, the campaign generally was lack-luster. The overriding issue was busing, yet paradoxically both candidates professed to be the most vigorous opponents of it.

Gable also tried to touch a political chord with a pledge to reduce state taxes by $5 million a year, an amount Carroll said the state could not afford. Carroll offered a $4.5 million cut for small income tax payers.

Otherwise, the two rivals were rarely apart on issues like the economy, energy and the need for upgrading education.

Gable began campaigning last summer instead of waiting for the traditional Labor Day opening, in the hope of gaining needed recognition and closing the normal political gap between the parties.

The Tuesday defeat is the fourth successive one for the GOP in as many years. They lost a governorship and two Senate seats previously.

Carroll had carried on the policies of Ford, though the two were mild factional enemies. With the overwhelming mandate, he is expected to reshuffle much of state government and make his own imprint on programs.

Mrs. Stovall, a veteran state officeholder, won almost as resounding a victory as Carroll. Her opponent was Shirley Palmer-Ball, a conservative businessman with little political experience.

Democrats Strengthen Hold On Legislature In Tuesday Contest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When Gov. Julian Carroll presents his legislative program to the 1976 General Assembly, it shouldn't generate a great deal of resistance: the Democrats will be in control again.

They strengthened that hold in Tuesday's election, leaving the Republicans clinging to a handful of legislative seats.

Unofficial returns showed the Democrats with 63 of the 100 House seats. Of the 19 Senate seats, three Republicans and six Democrats had no opposition and Democrats were leading in most of the contested races.

The trend wasn't surprising. The Republicans have had a majority in the House only twice — in 1895 and 1919 — and they never have controlled the Senate.

The GOP did manage to grab two House seats in Jefferson County. In the 30th District, Democratic incumbent Thomas Burch was defeated by Jon W. Ackerson and in the 38th, incumbent Democrat Richard Chandler lost to Republican Dexter Wright.

Norbert Blume, a Louisville Democrat, was re-elected in the 43rd District and was expected to go after the job as Speaker of the House, a position he has held since 1972. He may, however, be challenged by Gross Lindsay of Henderson.

Lindsay won in the 11th House District, defeating Ervin

Scott, a Henderson Republican. Democratic alderman Gerta Bendt of Louisville won the 34th District House seat, defeating Anne H. Bowers, a 64-year-old homemaker.

Unofficial results from some other legislative contests: Eugene Doss, Central City Democrat, took the 15th House seat from Republican Jerry Dobbs, also of Central City.

In the 19th House, the winner was G.W. Vincent, a Leitchfield Democrat, who eased past Gordon Moody, Brownsville Republican.

Charles Hardwick, a Republican from Betsy, held off Franklin Lowhorn, his Democratic opponent from Albany, in the 53rd House.

In the 75th District, the winner was William Kenton, Lexington Democrat. His Republican opponent was Ernest Hardaway of Lexington.

A Barbourville Democrat, Jimmy White, captured the 86th House seat from Chester Hammons, a Republican from Flat Lick.

The Democrats also took the 93rd House seat, with Clayton Little of Hartley defeating Guy Bailiff of Elkhorn City.

Carroll Incredulous Over Margin Of Win

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Although he'd expected to win, Gov. Julian Carroll still was baffled.

"We kept saying the margin would be 125,000—but we never expected 150,000 to 175,000," he said after winning a full four-year term as Kentucky governor.

Wearing a charcoal gray pinstriped suit, the silver-haired Carroll stepped to the stage in the crowded Bluegrass Convention Center about 9:40 p.m. to accept his victory.

Party regulars and supporters applauded wildly and two caged roosters on the stage began crowing. The rooster is the Democratic Party symbol.

Grinning broadly, Carroll seemed a little incredulous when he told his supporters, "We even carried Fayette County." The Democrats had not carried the Bluegrass county since Bert Combs ran for governor in 1959.

Carroll gave special thanks to the voters of Jefferson County "who searched their way through the jungle of confusion to realize my stand on issues vital to all the people of Louisville and Jefferson County."

It was an obvious reference to the issue of court-ordered busing in Jefferson County, which political observers had predicted would threaten Carroll's showing there.

As governor he promised to do all he could to stop forced busing.

He also said it was apparent from the majority by which the Democrats won that "we have the overwhelming support...of both major parties of Kentucky."

"For this endorsement my running mate and I shall be eternally grateful," he said.

He asked the people of Kentucky for "their understanding, their support, and their prayers as we go forth together."

Then, saying, "Thelma, where are you, dear?" Carroll looked for his running mate, Thelma Stovall, the first female lieutenant governor in Kentucky's history. He introduced her and the rest of the victorious Democratic slate as supporters cheered.

Flanked by his wife Charlene, who held their infant daughter Ellie, and their three teen-age children, Carroll told the crowd he was taking his family on a short vacation.

"Then I will return to my desk to prepare for the 1976 General Assembly," he said.

Seven Attorney Posts Contested

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — All 55 of Kentucky's Commonwealth's Attorney positions were up for election Tuesday, but only seven of them were contested.

In those races, by district: —23rd (Estill, Lee, Owsley), Mart V. Mainous, R-Irvine, defeated Billy L. Wilson, D-Irvine.

—30th (Jefferson), Dave Armstrong, D-Louisville, defeated Edwin A. Schroering Jr., R-Louisville.

—32nd (Boyd), John M. Williams, R-Ashland, defeated Kelley Asbury, D-Catlettsburg.

—44th (Bell), Joe Nagle, D-Middlesboro, defeated Julian H. Golden, R-Pineville.

—45th (McLean, Muhlenberg), Dan Cornette, D-Greenville, defeated Harold M. Streets, R-Central City.

—54th (Boone, Gallatin), Bill Mathis Jr., D-Wallon, defeated Don Knapmeyer, R-Florence.

Thanksgiving Arts And Crafts Sale Slated At Natural Bridge State Park

By Helen Price Stacy
Kentucky still will have beautiful sunny days, perfect for hiking and being outdoors, but when autumn's brilliance changes to leafless trees, fallow fields and chill weather, your state parks are ready to welcome you and your family with indoor activities.

At Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell County a special Thanksgiving weekend includes not only delectable foods, but an annual arts and crafts sale.

The Commonwealth does not have an unblemished season and, as you travel to Natural Bridge for this event, be sure to look around you and note the beauty of trees without leaves, fields without corn and homes without front-porch people. Instead there will be a flag of smoke from a kitchen stove or open fireplace in a family room that speaks eloquently of this season of closeness and warmth.

It is with this spirit of added bounty and friendliness that park employees and state personnel have put together this special program.

It is the first such event and scheduled Nov. 29-30. It will see some of the state's leading artists and crafts people exhibiting their work in the park's new multi-purpose building.

For exhibitors, it will mean a place of beauty to enhance their handiwork and also one of convenience, for they will be able to drive to an unloading center at the building.

For art lovers and collectors, the structure provides ample room for viewing and contemplating a purchase, even to standing thoughtfully at a window wall overlooking lovely, wooded Red River valley.

Constructed of strong materials, the multi-purpose building blends well into the landscape as did old Hemlock Lodge that once stood on the site.

"It is only a short path from the main lodge," said Jewell Baker who is helping with the weekend. "Those who walk from the lodge may enjoy trees, birds and scenic views. And inside the new building, the glass areas give a feeling of nature indoors."

According to Ms. Baker, artists and artisans already scheduled to exhibit include Al Cornett, Gene Gray, Charles Spaulding, Russell May, Vivian Niece, Nellie Meadows, Robert Powell, Howard Fain, Iva

Daniels, Ken Holland, Glenn Wilson, Jim Wright, Brett Johnson, Dan Short, Joe Fears, James Hicks, Lawrence Couch, Dr. Roscoe Buckland, Middle Kentucky River Council, Kentucky Kool Kraft, Libby's Jewelry, A & B Frame Shop, representatives for Hazel Ammermon, Ben Hampton and turquoise jewelry and Helen Price Stacy.

"We are looking forward to this event," Ms. Baker said, "and feel that it will become one of the best annual arts and crafts sales." She added that the weekend would be "a great opportunity for Christmas buying."

Hours of the exhibit and sale are 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday (Nov. 29) and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

"Thanksgiving will be here before you realize it," commented Ms. Baker, "so mark this date on your calendar. The manager and everyone here at the park will be hosts and ready to help."

The popular park is near the Daniel Boone National Forest exit of Mountain Parkway at Slade and accessible to travelers on the interstates as well as other highways.

Less Litter, More Jobs Possible With Law For Container Refunds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A reduction in litter and a possible increase in jobs would result if Kentucky were to pass a law requiring refunds on beverage containers.

That conclusion is contained in a study released today by the Legislative Research Commission. The report was prepared in response to a 1974 Senate resolution which called for a study of Kentucky's litter problem and the potential effects of legislation to ban all non-refillable containers or to require that all containers be refundable.

LRC researchers said the results might be the same in terms of energy and resource conservation and pollution control if either form of legislation were passed.

But they said a refund law was clearly preferable to a ban on non-refillable containers.

The report said a ban was not a guarantee that litter would be reduced, since it would not offer a monetary incentive.

The report also said adopting such a ban would close the door on possible future developments that would make remelting containers competitive with refilling them.

The report said the refund law would encourage recycling and allow free competition between different methods of recycling, and would interfere less with the free market system than would a ban.

Besides leading to a "significant reduction in litter," a refund law "would probably cause a net increase in the number of jobs...because it would require increased employment in breweries, bottling plants, and retail stores for handling the returnables."

The report noted that passage of a refund law in Kentucky might eliminate some jobs in the manufacture of throw-away glass bottles and beverage cans, but would probably increase the number of jobs in returnable glass bottles. In any event, the report said both those effects on the container industry would be felt mainly outside Kentucky, since most of the containers used in the state are manufactured out of state.

Hazardous Waste Study Is Funded

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The division of solid waste of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has received a $45,000 grant from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency to make a survey of Kentucky industries that produce hazardous waste.

Combined with $45,000 furnished by the state, the federal grant will be used to determine the amount of hazardous waste produced in Kentucky and where it is being disposed. The state will also survey site problems related to hazardous waste and report on its findings.

There are not permitted disposal sites in Kentucky for potentially dangerous chemical and liquid wastes, according to Karl Patterson, director of the hazardous waste program in the division of solid waste.

Although no one will know how much hazardous waste is produced in Kentucky until late spring when the study should be finished, Patterson said: "It must be a lot."

Patterson predicted that the study will show most of the hazardous material is centralized in the large metropolitan areas such as Louisville, Northern Kentucky and Lexington. "The 15 or 16 paint manufacturing plants in Louisville produce about 20,000 gallons of hazardous waste during one week alone," he said.

After the survey of the 1,500 industries in Kentucky is completed, Patterson should know where the state's hazardous waste is being disposed. "Since there isn't a permitted place to put the stuff in Kentucky, I suspect we'll probably find that a lot of the waste is being dumped where it shouldn't be," said Patterson.

He said hazardous wastes have probably been dumped illegally into rivers and solid waste landfills and so far, the only way an industry can dispose of its hazardous wastes legally is to transport it out of state to a suitable, legal disposal site. "The expenses of transporting the waste out of state probably prompts some people to get rid of it illegally...and dangerously."

Two of the closest sites for disposal of hazardous waste are in Columbus, Ind. and Franklin, Ohio. At these sites, oil is separated from the remainder of the material and the waste is treated. Then the waste is disposed of and the oil is sold.

Marketbasket Survey Shows Food Bills Stable In October

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Supermarket shoppers found over-all grocery bills stayed fairly steady during October, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. Increases in the price of chopped chuck, frozen orange juice and butter were balanced by declines in the cost of eggs, hot dogs and sugar.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

During October, the marketbasket total at the checklist store increased in six cities, up an average 3 per cent, and decreased in seven cities, down an average 2 per cent. Over-all, the bill at the start of November was about a third of a per cent higher than it was a month earlier.

The situation was similar to that in September when the bill also increased at the checklist store in six cities and declined in seven.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has predicted that food prices will increase about 9 per cent during 1975, compared to a 14-per-cent boost last year.

The biggest price fluctuation so far this year has been in sugar. At the start of 1975, a five-pound sack cost about $3. Prices have declined steadily since then and now average about $1.40 for a five-pound sack.

If sugar is included in the total, the AP survey shows the marketbasket bill has declined since the start of the year at the checklist store in 11 cities. If sugar is not included, however, the survey shows the marketbasket bill has increased at the checklist store in every city, up an average of 8.5 per cent.

Among other findings in the latest survey:

—The price of chopped chuck increased at the checklist store in nine of the 13 cities surveyed. The biggest boost was in Salt Lake City where the price of a pound of chopped chuck went from 73 cents to 85 cents, an increase of 16 per cent.

The higher prices reflect the grain-fed beef that is coming to market. Earlier this year, much of the meat in the supermarkets — particularly for hamburger — was less expensive grass-fed beef which generally is leaner and, some people believe, less tender than the grain-fed variety.

—Egg prices, which had been rising in recent months, dropped again. The price of a dozen eggs declined at the checklist store in nine of the cities surveyed and increased in only one — Albuquerque, N.M. The price was unchanged in the other three cities.

—The price of a pound of butter increased at the checklist store in eight of the cities surveyed, reflecting higher milk prices.

—Frozen orange juice prices, which have stayed steady for more than two years, increased last month. The price of a six-ounce can of frozen orange juice concentrate went up at the checklist store in seven of the cities surveyed.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Opponents Of Dam To Continue Court Action Against Issue

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Though the Army Corps of Engineers has ceased efforts to construct a dam on the Red River in Eastern Kentucky, opponents of the project say they will try to carry on with court action against the dam.

Oscar N. Gerald, a Lexington attorney who represents the Red River Gorge Legal Defense Fund, Inc., said Monday the group will fight an expected move to have the suit dismissed.

The corps has proposed since 1962 to build a dam and lake in the Powell County stretch of the Red River Gorge.

But Gov. Julian Carroll said in September he opposed the $32 million flood control, recreation and water supply project, and the corps told Congress funds should not be appropriated for the dam.

While it still carries the congressional authorization it has had since 1962, "practically speaking, the project is dead," said Asst. U.S. Atty. David L. Huber, who represents the corps.

Huber said if Congress refuses to approve money for the project, as expected, he will move to have the U.S. District Court suit against it dismissed "without prejudice" — meaning opponents of the project would have the right to refile it later if desired.

"There is no precedent I know of for going ahead with a suit in a case like this," he said. "I think we've all got better things to do."

But Gerald said he and other opponents of the project fear the corps could be biding its time before making a renewed effort to build a Red River dam.

"We'd rather fight this thing to the finish now that we have the momentum," he said.

Also, he said, even if Carroll continued to oppose the dam, there is no guarantee the next Kentucky governor will do the same.

"I just can't see fighting this thing every four years, which is what would happen if we don't fight it out in court," he said.

DOWN WITH BUSINESS LUNCH

Not long ago I read a newspaper column that expressed a philosophy I had to agree with. The point was made that we do so much business over lunch and that self-advancement should not be combined with eating.

This, I think, puts the finger on a modern curse. Eating should be enjoyable, not associated with anxiety. The spirit should be one of relaxation, not of competition or exploitation.

EATING can and should be ceremonial, as it is in some foreign countries. This doesn't mean it has to consume a great deal of time. (I say this because we Americans are so time-conscious.) But a satisfying lunch should be an escape from the competitive realities of the business world. Better to have lunch with a friend than a customer. Or a customer who is your friend.

Make it a celebration of your interest in each other, rather than a grappling with business problems. We're all guilty of reducing the quality of our lives by associating eating with pressures. I do it. You do it. And the Internal Revenue Department allows us deductions for a certain amount of eating when talking business.

But it's poor nutrition. WHICH LEADS me to comment on the increasing popularity of "brown-bagging." I'm not particularly fond of the expression. But it is increasingly being used to describe the business of packing a lunch for work. It's no secret that many an executive briefcase or attache case contains sandwiches along with business papers.

But if the sandwiches and business papers are separated from each other for a quiet respite in a man's own office, something is gained. Even if he reads some of the papers while enjoying a sandwich and milk, he is freer from the pressure situations that surround him the rest of the day.

This is not a treatise against restaurants, but a plea against their misuse. Dining out for lunch or dinner can be one of the great joys of life—but not combined with business.

Health Planning Council Develops New Bed Formula To Serve Elderly

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The state's Comprehensive Health Planning Council has developed a new flexibility bed formula to assure quality health services for Kentucky's elderly.

The new formula has developed with input from the 15 regional health planning councils. Most regional councils stated that they needed more intermediate care beds to serve their respective areas.

Each district will use the new formula to distribute intermediate care and personal care beds. Intermediate care beds will be distributed according to two per cent of the population of people aged 65 and over and personal care beds will be distributed according to one per cent.

Intermediate care is the degree of care given to patients who require medical treatment or long-term rehabilitative treatment. Personal care is the level of care given to persons who require non-medical institutional care and are unable to meet their own personal needs completely. Persons at this level of care do not require continuous nursing or medical care, but may require intermittent care by a physician or a home health nurse.

The new formula will be up for review on or before June, 1976. During that period, conversions of intermediate and personal care facilities will be given priority over new constructions.

The council approved forming a long-term care committee to conduct in-depth research on projects. One of the first studies to be made by the committee will be the present policy on the inspection of mini-homes.

The council asked for a determination on who should make the inspection, when the inspection should be conducted and what it should consist of in regard to quality care.

In addition, the council asked the committee to study the current policy of moving non-ambulatory patients from family care homes. The members feel that exceptions should be made to the current policy, especially when moving a patient could endanger his emotional well-being.

Four applications from Western Kentucky health care facilities were approved by the council:

—Brantley Family Personal Care Home, Lyon County; Dotson Family Personal Care Home, Caldwell County; and Smith Family Personal Care Home, Caldwell County, were approved to establish three-bed family personal care homes; —Mayfield Personal Care Home, Mayfield, was approved to convert 49 personal care beds to 49 Class III and IV Model A intermediate care-developmentally disabled-retarded beds.

In addition to reviewing 40 health services and facilities, the council took the following actions:

—Extended the certificate of Surgicenter of Louisville, Inc., for a six-month period, giving the applicant an opportunity to document the new ownership;

—Extended the certificate of Shalomwald, LaGrange, for a six-month period, giving the applicant an opportunity to document the changes in the corporate structure of the legal applicant;

Plumbing Code Panel Meets To Review Product Approval Requests

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Meeting here recently, the newly appointed members of the state plumbing code committee adopted guidelines to ease the product review process, reviewed the first requests to come to them from companies petitioning for approval of their products and recommended changes in state plumbing regulations.

Inspection Of Trucks Uncovers Many Defects

Ninety-nine per cent of the trucks inspected at Kentucky weigh stations are found to have safety defects, according to the latest figures compiled by the state Bureau of Vehicle Regulation. Most of the troubles are relatively minor and can be quickly corrected, Col. Roby E. Meadows, director of the Department of Transportation's division of highway enforcement (DHE), indicated.

In fact, some are so minor that you would not recognize them as "defects" in your own car, he said.

DHE is charged with seeing that trucks, ranging from small pick-ups to semi-trailers, comply with state and federal laws regulating their operation on Kentucky highways.

The division operates 13 permanent weigh stations across Kentucky. Its officers also set up temporary weigh stations at various points along the highways, using portable scales, on a variable schedule not announced in advance.

Explaining that safety is a prime consideration, Col. Meadows said his officers conduct an average of 1,800 or more inspections per month. During August, they reported 1,806 defects out of a total 1,810 inspections.

Since every truck moving through a state weigh station can't be inspected completely, DHE officers spot check many of the trucks as they pull into station ramps and on to the scales.

Truckers usually are asked to park for a complete check only when the vehicle has not gone through the station before or within the recent past. For those traveling through the station once every week or so, one inspection a year is generally considered to be enough, Meadows said.

Vehicles found to have safety defects which are not considered immediately dangerous are allowed to proceed; however, the driver is instructed to mail DHE a copy of a compliance check signed by the mechanic who later corrects the fault. The card must be received within ten days.

Other defects, specifically defined by Kentucky law as dangerous, result in the truck's being grounded at the weigh station and declared out of service. The truck may not be moved again until repairs are made—right there on the spot, Meadows said.

"Our vigorous enforcement of state and federal trucking laws is aimed at correcting safety violations which represent potential danger to the driving public and to the truck drivers themselves," Meadows said.

Although safety is DHE's first priority, they also issue citations to truckers found to be in violation of various other state and federal laws. For example, overweight trucks and those not carrying proper registration, or trucks operating without specific operating authority, can be cited. Drivers of the vehicles then must appear before the judge of the county in which the citation was issued.

In the first eight months of this year, 14,427 citations were issued as compared with 13,607 over the same period in 1974.

After acknowledgement from NREP that the request was received, the company is notified whether or not the item will be placed on the agenda for the next committee meeting. If it is placed on the agenda, the company displaying its product will have about 15 minutes to make its presentation.

According to Art Curtis, special advisor to the state plumbing director, the company's presentation should be concise and thorough. "The plumbing code committee should be able to inspect the product before or during the presentation," said Curtis. "The product sample should be big enough to allow the committee to make a proper evaluation."

Within two weeks after the presentation, the committee will notify the company of its comments or decision.

During the recent meeting, the plumbing code committee considered requests from three plumbing-related companies — Monogram Industry, Armco Steel Corp. and the Plastic Pipe Institute.

Okayed were the Magic Flush Sewage System of Monogram Industry and ABS solid wall and truss pipe for sewers, which was presented by Armco Steel Corp. Use of those products is also subject to certain limitations of the state water quality division.

Also approved were two of five requests made by the Plastic Pipe Institute. The group okayed dropping annual certification of individual companies. Also approved was the request to allow the use of Union Traps, ABS and PVC for drain, waste and vent pipes.

The plumbing committee rejected the company's request for allowing the use of plastic pipe in buildings up to six stories. Plastic pipe is now allowed in buildings up to two stories. Also rejected was removal of restrictions on drain, waste and vent lines serving as a fixture under a finished floor. The group turned down a request to use plastic pipes, ABS and PVC below ground on an unlimited basis.

Also during the meeting, the committee adopted some changes in the state plumbing code, which were recommended by NREP. Those included amendments to define basement and to provide for a three-inch branch. This section tells how to size a fixture branch and how to limit it. Also adopted were clarifications on the number of house drains and stacks allowed and measures to insure final plumbing inspection. The next meeting of the plumbing code committee is scheduled for 10 a. m., Nov. 12, in the auditorium of the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort.

Letters requesting review of a product should be addressed to: Chairperson, Plumbing Code Committee, c/o Arthur S. Curtis Jr., 6th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

5th ANNIVERSARY

Few Cancer-Causing Chemicals Reported By Schools In State

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Only four high schools and 17 colleges have thus far reported the presence of certain cancer-causing chemicals in their laboratories following an August notification and request for registration of the chemicals by the state Department of Labor.

Dr. J. Bradford Block, medical consultant for the department, explained that letters were mailed to 350 Kentucky high schools and 42 colleges advising them of the chemicals. More than 200 high school responses and 17 college reports have been received since the mailing.

Dr. Block said most of the chemicals would be found only in more advanced labs where they are used for detection of changes in an acid balance or to determine the strength of a solution.

The medical consultant explained that the registration request stemmed from a routine college survey by department employees in which some of the chemicals were found to have been placed unlabeled on a shelf with no warning precautions.

Dr. Block said that students should not be alarmed by the notification since minimal risks are involved if the chemicals are handled properly. He added, however, that many of the schools have decided to dispose of the chemicals since they are not used very often and therefore are not worth the risk. Dr. Block said the chemicals are usually placed in special containers and buried in sanitary landfills as a means of disposal. The doctor said his staff planned to send a follow-up letter to the schools with a list of trade names the chemicals might go under to encourage remaining responses.

Keeping Tabs On Water

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Until recently, few Kentuckians worried much about running out of water. That's changing.

In recent years, the division of water resources in the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, has been looking more closely at applicants seeking to withdraw water from streams and lakes in the state. In a couple of instances, the division has cut back the amount of water a permit applicant is allowed to withdraw.

Dick Rohlf, who is in charge of the division's water withdrawal permit program, predicts that the number of applications cut back or rejected will increase as industrial development increases.

In 1966, the state began keeping tabs on who was using water from Kentucky streams and lakes. The 1966 law was intended to control the development of water resources. Today, the division issues permits to users of more than 10,000 gallons of water a day.

The first water withdrawal permit was issued to Shelbyville, which was withdrawing one million gallons of water a day in 1966. In 1976, its permit was revised to allow withdrawal of two million gallons a day.

Since then, 777 water withdrawal permits have been issued. The latest was issued to Gal-Glo Coal Co. of Whitley County. It will withdraw 240,000 gallons of water a day from Bennetts Branch.

Of the permits issued, Rohlf estimates just over 600 are active. Many of the inactive ones are issued to small municipal water plants that have been consolidated with another water withdrawal plant.

Louisville — with one withdrawal point — is the largest single user of water in the state. It takes between 120 and 130 million gallons of water from the Ohio River every day. Lexington — with two withdrawal points — takes 32 million gallons a day from the Kentucky River.

Some industries, such as Westvaco in Western Kentucky, rival for second place. Westvaco withdraws 25 million gallons a day from the Mississippi River. DuPont at Louisville withdraws about 40 million gallons a day from the Ohio River.

One of the largest water users, however, isn't permitted. That's the TVA Paradise Plant which uses the water for cooling. Power plants and agricultural consumers aren't required to obtain a permit. Water withdrawn to be injected underground for secondary recovery of oil or gas also is exempt.

According to Rohlf, much of the water that is withdrawn is returned to the streams. Municipal water systems return much through their sewage treatment plants. However, other water, such as that which evaporates from the TVA cooling tower, is lost.

As long as a stream will carry enough water for all users, Rohlf said the division will issue a permit to withdraw water for any purpose. However, if the withdrawal will limit the water available to other users, the permit will be denied or the amount of water the division will allow the applicant to withdraw will be reduced.

The division monitors how much water is being withdrawn through semi-annual reports submitted by the permit holders. The computer files on those reports have been used by water planning analysis and state government consultants.

Usually there's enough water to go around. "If the withdrawal is from the Ohio or the Mississippi, we don't look at the permit application very hard," said Rohlf. "There's plenty of water in those rivers to go around."

However, Rohlf said some proposed water withdrawals have been reduced during the last few years. "These have been minor cases," said Rohlf, "and not major denials or cutbacks." One denial was for a trailer park. Rohlf said the proposed water withdrawal would have lowered the affected stream so much that not enough water would have been left for the users downstream.

"Though we've just gotten into denials," added Rohlf, "as development continues and as more sources withdraw water from some streams, we'll probably be denying more applicants for permits. For sure, we're looking at the permits harder now because some of the streams already have near their maximum of permitted withdrawals."
